

When and where should I call?

114 14 to report crimes, give tip-offs or other matters

112 for emergencies needing the police

More information about the various activities is given by:

Gigi Cederholm,

public health coordinator

Telephone: 0520-49 79 77

E-mail:

gigi.cederholm@trollhattan.se

More information is available on the Trollhättan website:
www.trollhattan.se/brottsforebyggande

- what can I do?

Many things are being done in Trollhättan to make all its residents feel secure. Security is one of the high-priority public health goals, and Trollhättan municipality must be a safe, secure municipality in which to live, stay, and work.

Responsibility for security lies with all of us. This folder tells you what you can do for your own security: start a neighbourhood watch group and become a street watcher. You are also given information about what numbers to call and when you should call the police.

Trollhättans

Public Health Council

Neighbourhood watch

You should feel safe and secure in your home and in your residential area. Do you want to reduce the risk of burglary in your home?

Start a neighbourhood watch group to make people feel good about living in your area. The aim is to reduce crime and increase security.

Neighbourhood watch is based on neighbours keeping natural contact with each other and being more vigilant in and around your houses. This reduces the likelihood of crime and increases the security and satisfaction in your area.

Starting a neighbourhood watch area is completely free and you are given help in starting up the group with signs and stickers, among other things.

Street watchers

When there are more people out and about in an area, people feel safer. Being a street watcher creates a natural social contact between adults and young people. The purpose is to be a role model and provide sympathetic support for young people, to see and be seen, to talk with young people and be an adult who is present for them.

Are you interested in becoming a street watcher? Trollhättan City supports street watchers in Trollhättan and arranges training sessions.

You learn what to consider in the event of a fire and how to extinguish a fire. The Police teach you how to take action. You are also offered CPR training.

Street watching takes place on an entirely voluntary basis. You are lent a clearly visible jacket so that you are recognized when you are out.